Communications

8. Communication from Supervisor Tran re: Request for the Education and Recreation Committee and Library Board to create a master plan for the $20 million set aside for library construction, and for the plan to include a new library in the Stadium District housed within a mixed and multi-development building (i.e. Commercial/Residential) For September County Meeting.

Supervisor Tran informed there is $20 million dollars of the sales tax that has not been earmarked for anything and she would like $6 million dollars allocated for a new library in Ashwaubenon. Ideally she would like the library located in the Titledown District and noted that Brown County taxpayers have donated more than $300 million dollars in sales tax to the Packers for expansion of the stadium and she would hope the Packers would give back to the community through land donations for a mixed use development that would include Ashwaubenon Library and the Children's Museum. Tran believes the addition of these facilities would add immeasurable value, a great sense of community and culture to the Titledown District and help cement the Packers legacy for years to come.

Supervisor Moynihan is here to support Tran as he believes her communication as presented illustrates the need, once we have a Library Director working in concert with the Library Board and this Committee, to create a master plan. He is open to all options, but does not know if the Packers organization is even thinking about something like this. A masterplan would show new construction opportunities as well as renovation opportunities. Moynihan feels the current facility in Ashwaubenon has been outlived. There may be opportunities to build elsewhere as Tran suggested, or to build out into the adjacent school parking. Moynihan would like to see the library located near the schools as it is now. A masterplan would look at all the options and he supports Tran in regard to the creation of the masterplan.

Tran said her plan B would be to have a facility built on Ridge Road, near Valley View School. She has looked at some lots there and had discussions with people from the Village of Ashwaubenon. She has also spoken with the Director of the Children's Museum who has expressed an interest in a satellite location in Ashwaubenon.

Moynihan said when the sales tax was signed off on, the pot was divided and there is a limited amount of dollars to work with and that is where it comes back to new versus renovating the current facility. There are opportunities on Ridge Road and the Village government has had discussions with developers, but nothing came to fruition. Renovations to the present facility would be fewer dollars than building new. The representatives of Ashwaubenon have seen new facilities in Howard and De Pere and feel they should also have a fair shake when the time comes and he pointed out that Ashwaubenon does add to the coffers more so than other municipalities in the county.

Supervisor Lefebvre agreed that Ashwaubenon does need a new library, but she questions if the Titledown District is the appropriate location. She likes libraries to be very visible and questions if a library in that area would be easy to see because of the development that has already occurred in the area.

Moynihan reiterated he is here to support the idea of a masterplan. He does not find the Titledown District feasible as it is not centrally located and he noted that phase two of the Titledown District redevelopment will be unveiled soon and includes townhouses and more retail. There are opportunities on South Ridge Road as well as renovating the current location or on Orrie Lane. This is going to be on the back end of the sales tax, but he feels there should be a list created by the Library Board and the new Library Director on this. Van Dyck informed the Library Board has entertained a few things in Ashwaubenon, one being a location on Ridge Road, but nothing has come to fruition because at this time there is not enough room. He also said the Packers have been casually approached on a few locations but have not been very receptive to giving anything away. The Library Board has not set firm dollar amounts for any of the locations, and although $20 million dollars sounds like a lot, that money is going to be used up pretty quickly. At this point, Van Dyck feels a referral of this to the Library Board would be appropriate. Tran noted one of the issues with the current location is the limited accessibility to those with disabilities and any renovations at the current location would require work to make the facility ADA compliant.

Motion made by Supervisor Ballard, seconded by Supervisor Lefebvre to refer to the Library Board. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

9. Communication from Supervisor Erickson re: Have the Parks Department look into purchasing the old Eagle's Nest to add a much needed safe harbor and boat launch. *Referred to staff and bring back in 60 days with a follow-up.

Assistant Park Director Matt Kriese informed he visited the site, both by water and land and he is working with the Planning Department on this and noted that at this time the property is not listed for sale. There may be grant opportunities and other incentives depending on how willing the LLC is willing to work with a potential buyer.

Motion made by Supervisor Suennen, seconded by Supervisor Lefebvre to hold for 90 days. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

Library10. Library Report.

Van Dyck informed the new Library Director, Sarah Sugden, will be starting her new position on November 5.

No action taken.

Golf Course11. Superintendent's Report.

Golf Course Superintendent Scott Anthes reported August was a good month for the golf course with about 6000 rounds as compared with 5800 rounds in August of 2017. Total revenue for the month was about $16,000 more than for the same period last year and about $5,000 more than the same period in 2016. Year to date rounds are still down by about 1400, and a lot of that is due to the weather in April, but of those rounds, only about 100 are upfront paid rounds. Cart revenue continues to go up and the steakhouse is right in line with where they should be.

September started off a little slow due to the high volume of rain, but play then picked up. At this time of year the play slows down because the leagues are done and there is not really night golfing anymore because it gets dark too soon. The Brown County Golf Classic was held recently and the NFL Alumni is the major sponsor of the event which raised about $16,000 for NWTC scholarships for seven students.

At the request of Chair Van Dyck at the last meeting, Anthes has talked to HR regarding giving rounds of golf as a perk to golf course employees and he will keep the Committee advised on this. He will also be having a meeting soon regarding the First Tee project to revisit the proposal that was brought forward several years ago.

Anthes continued that fertilizers and fungicides have been applied and they have also added some crushed asphalt to the cart paths. The bunker at 3 will be removed and a cart path will be put in. Course aerification will start soon, weather permitting. Irrigation blowout is scheduled for October 31. A compressor has been rented for this and he understands that the County Board budget meeting is also that day and he will try to attend, but also needs to be at the golf course during the blowout.

Ballard asked when the course will close and Anthes said they usually pull the flags the Monday before hunting starts because the course butts up to the public hunting land.

No action taken.

Museum12. Director's Report.

Kevin Kuehn, Chairman of the Neville Public Museum Governing Board, introduced himself and indicated he is here on behalf of Museum Director Beth Lemke who is at the annual meeting of the American Association for State and Local History who has awarded the 2018 Award of Merit to the Neville for the recent Estamos Aqui exhibit.

Kuehn outlined some of the items contained in the Director's Report in the agenda packet. Some of the highlights over the last month include the Brown County Bee Keepers Association and the Wisconsin Honey Queen participating in the last Explorer Wednesday. He also mentioned the two soap box derby winner cars that have been donated and will appear in the core gallery.

Kuehn also talked about the visits to the webpage and informed there have been 431,000 visits to the page this year. This is a demonstration of the digital initiative that was put in place several years ago that the County Board helped fund. The Museum sees the digital initiative as a very strong part of the education aspect of the Museum and numbers are set forth in the agenda packet.

Kuehn outlined the temporary exhibits currently at the Museum which include Our Brown County, Delay of Game: Experiences of African American Football Players in Tiletown and Bees. The Holiday Memories exhibit will open on November 15 and run through January, 2019. The Museum has been doing restoration on the artifacts for the Holiday Memories display and it continues to be very popular with good attendance.

Zoo & Park Management

13. Parks Department – Fairgrounds Strategic and Master Plan – Standing Item.

Kriese informed the work group met last week and two conceptual plans were presented by Rettler. Some tweaks were made and those have not gone back to the work group yet, but at this time Kriese displayed a drawing of what may be proposed, but noted this is not the final plan. He wants to get the right plan that will work for the Fair Association, the community and everyone else involved. There are a number of people on the work group, including representation from De Pere and Ashwaubenon.

The intention is to create a multi-use space that will allow the Fair to continue to operate and have the operational group generate some revenue and provide indoor and outdoor space, which is something the community does not currently have. Kriese continued that parking is an issue for events and the concept as laid out includes 581 hard surface stalls. The midway apron would be extended which would add approximately 100,000 square feet of vendor space. The existing indoor exhibition space is roughly 30,000 square feet and there is also about 42,000 of barn space. The new plan would include a new 40,000 square foot indoor exhibition space along with more barn space. The concept discussed was an open air style barn space with panels that can be dropped down, depending on the event. Lefebvre would like to see the barns look old fashioned with a cupola on top.

Kriese continued that Ashwaubenon has said they want to be very supportive of this plan and they want to energize the riverfront for recreation and have connectivity with Ashwaubomay Park. A riverfront trail is being proposed in this regard.

The plan also takes into consideration RV slips and Kriese noted there have been three or four RV events at the Fairgrounds this year and the Packer camping is also doing very well. RV slips have been added to the plan along with the dirt track for things like demolition derbies and tractor pulls. The north exhibition would stay where it currently is. De Pere's property is adjacent and contains over 13 acres and they would also have to have an opportunity to comment and make changes on the plan if they choose.

Ballard asked where the Park staff would be situated. Kriese said there are some options being discussed and noted that if Parks is not located at the Fairgrounds, it will take money to put a structure somewhere else for the Parks admin and maintenance offices and he is keeping his finger on the Fairgrounds. Ballard also brought up the current winter storage revenue and asked if what is being proposed would increase that revenue. Kriese said revenue would absolutely increase. Currently they bring in about $37,000 in winter storage and the new plan would bring in more because the space would be more flexible.

With regard to the RV slips, Supervisor Suennen asked if there was any consideration given to putting in sewer or having water and electricity only and noted that most fifth wheels and larger units want to be able to dump every couple of days which would be a factor if the Fairgrounds wants to host events that go on for several days or up to a week. Kriese said that is something that will have to be looked at down the road and noted that there could be grants to cover 50 – 75% of RV amenities. They are definitely looking at electric and water and he also feels it would be in the best interest to look into a good number of the slips having direct sewer connections. Suennen also said the larger units use 50 amps of electricity so that should also be taken into consideration.

Tran would look to see as much green energy used as possible. Kriese pointed out there are already solar panels on the north exhibition hall and, in addition, there are grants available for things like this and that will all be looked at.

Van Dyck said the boat launch and the parking area will remain the way it is as those areas were developed by DNR funds. There was a conversation that if there was a way to make the flow better without reducing the number of parking spots, that would be looked at. The ice center is staying, at least at this point. De Pere has recently put some money into that building, but there appears to be other major issues with the property. There once was talk about using that facility as another exhibition building, but the work group felt that was separating things too much as it was not located near the other exhibition spaces. The oak grove in the middle of the property is another fixed area that will not be going anywhere. Van Dyck feels some of the proposed camping spots along the sewage disposal plant could be put in the oak grove instead.

Motion made by Supervisor Ballard, seconded by Supervisor Suennen to open the floor to allow interested parties to speak. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

Steve Corrigan and Kathy Ambrosius of the Fair Association addressed the Committee.

Corrigan said the Fair currently functions on every operable square inch of the property. They are not opposed to the camping as they feel it can be systemically laid out in the infield which would still allow large events and the Fair to function and they are not opposed to creating a trail system along the river. If the square footage of the exhibition space is reduced, there will not be enough net building space to conduct the Fair and the type of events they want to draw in. With regard to the ice arena, a lot of renovation work would be needed to make it usable. Corrigan provided the Committee with a handout which contains 12 bullet points that outline the Fair's concerns and said the opinion of the Fair Association is that the concept as proposed will take away the ability to continue the success of the Brown County Fair and the possibility of attracting other large events such as ag related animal type events or the logging congress. The midway in the concept is also considerably shorter than what is currently being used and they use every inch of the current midway so reducing the size will not work. There is too much square footage being lost in creating a park. What needs to be created is an event ground which is wide open with green space, some paving and buildings. Corrigan said they are not opposed to relocating the Fairgrounds and using the current space for an urbanized camping park center, but they cannot continue ahead with the Fair and the growth of the Fair under the proposed concept, nor can they draw in any of the events that they feel would be possible.

Ballard asked how much exhibition space would be lost under the proposed concept. It was indicated that approximately 20,000 square feet of indoor open air exhibition space along with about 18,000 square feet of barn space would be lost under this concept.

Tran asked if there are statistics as to where Fair attendees come from. Corrigan responded that about 75% of attendees are local people from the County and the remainder of the attendance is from surrounding counties. Tran asked if the Fair Board would be open to moving the Fair to a different part of the county and Corrigan said they do not have any objection to that at all and noted that the future of the Fair and the growth of the Fair would be probably twice as successful with a larger facility.

Lefebvre recalled talking about the Feaker property located across the street from the Fairgrounds at earlier meetings and having space there for parking. Corrigan said approximately 600 parking stalls would be able to be put on the property, but the price tag to purchase the property, do some demolition work and then improve the property for parking would be about $2 million dollars.

Kathy Ambrosius pointed out the open activity green space that is currently at the Fairgrounds and noted that campers use that area, but there are not specific designated graveled or paved sites and the campers seem to be happy with that. She feels leaving that area as is will allow it to be used for multiple uses.

Corrigan said the concept to move towards a park setting will not work for an events ground. The minute trees are put in, the use of the property changes. He also pointed out the new building being proposed will increase storage revenue greatly.

Ballard would like to keep the Fair where it is as he feels it is important for people who live in the city and the suburbs to see where their food comes from and see that lifestyle and all walks of life come to the Fair where it is. Lefebvre agreed and said she does not want to see anything interfere with the Fair, but it is also important to expand to bring other groups in. Corrigan added that from day one he has said the space needs to be as open as possible.

Van Dyck feels before this goes to the De Pere Park Board a meeting needs to be held with De Pere Mayor Walsh and County Executive Streckenbach because we need to have an agreement for the County to take this over to make the decisions. This whole thing has to work as one big unit and if it does not, it will not work.

Corrigan interjected that other than the cost of buying the property from Feaker, the improvements that are being shown as parking areas in the City of De Pere have a cost to them as they have to be created. If those spots are created across the street, there will be the same costs as making the improvements to the De Pere property.

Motion made by Supervisor Ballard, seconded by Supervisor Suennen to close the floor and return to regular order of business. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

No action taken.

14. Director's Report – Parks Management.

Kriese informed he just returned from the National Recreation & Park Association convention in Indianapolis. It was a great event and allowed Kriese to see what is happening in other areas and what the trends are and how to adapt and look at our parks a little differently.

Upcoming events include Parkaeology which is presented in partnership with the Museum, a bird feeder workshop and autumn night hikes and some self-guided hikes. Attendance at the self-guided events is typically 150+ which is much greater than those events that are naturalist-led and this maximizes revenue without hurting the experience of the participants.

Kriese also talked about the public kickoff planning meeting at Renard Island which is scheduled for October 2, 2018 and provided a copy of the invitation to that event, a copy of which is attached. He also reported the Friends group at the Reforestation Camp will be replacing the horse trailhead parking lot fencing and also talked about a sensory garden which was added to Barkhausen and he provided a picture, a copy of which is attached. A lot of donors came forward to pay for the sensory area so it did not cost the County anything. The area is fenced in and allows people with limited mobility to come out and participate in nature with the same experiences that everyone else has.

Kriese concluded by talking about the live boat launch cameras at Bay Shore that have been recently updated. He said many people rely on these cameras to check the weather before launching their boats. They have received a lot of feedbacks and suggestions for how to tweak the cameras.

No action taken.

15. Director's Report – NEW Zoo.

Zoo and Park Director Neil Anderson informed staff is currently getting ready for Zoo Boo. There are a number of different volunteer groups working with staff doing things like working on decorations and carving pumpkins. Zoo Boo encompasses three weekends and is one of the Zoo's major operational fundraising events, bringing in between $120,000 - $140,000 in revenue. North Shore Bank is the major sponsor and there are also other local sponsorships. This year there is also national sponsorship by Kind who will be donating Kind bars to a number of AZA accredited zoos holding Halloween events, including the NEW Zoo. More information on Zoo Boo is contained in a handout provided by Anderson, a copy of which is attached.

Anderson continued that the USDA inspection occurred recently. This is an unannounced inspection that encompasses every part of the Zoo and the Zoo was found to be 100% in compliance. He also said out of the eight swan cygnets, six went to Iowa to be released back into the wild. Anderson also reported the recent Brew at the Zoo event brought in about $22,000 and should net roughly $12,000 which will be used for conservation programming. He also informed that TS is currently working on putting in wireless access points throughout the Zoo as well as new cameras at the giraffe and lion exhibits. Anderson also talked about several new billboards that have been put up and provided pictures of them, copies of which are attached.

Anderson concluded by saying the August numbers were good and things are on track at the Zoo.

16. Communication from Supervisor Linssen re: To include water runoff planning in the Fairgrounds Master Plan, specifically on the north side of the fairgrounds. *Referred from September County Board.

Chair Van Dyck informed this was put in by Linssen as a matter of record and it could be referred to staff or the masterplan. Public Works has been out to the Fairgrounds to look at the problem which causes flooding into some of the neighboring yards and this year has been challenging with several very large rain events. There is one 18 inch pipe which goes from the catch basin to the river and it appears that could be undersized. There has been a suggestion of putting in another 18 inch pipe alongside the one that is there. Referring this to staff would allow the Fair and Public Works to work out a solution to this issue.

Motion made by Supervisor Ballard, seconded by Supervisor Lefebvre to refer to staff. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

At this time Chair Van Dyck was excused and Vice Chair Ballard took the meeting over.

Brown County Fair Association Review of Proposed Master Plan of September 20, 2018 with consideration to the three amendments.

The proposed Master Plan does not allow for large outdoor events and loses the ability for the property to host the Brown County Fair as it exists today, without increased growth.

The proposed Master Plan provides for a park with camping, not an event based grounds.

1. Loss of acreage due to tree plantings, multiple retention ponds, improved camp sites and location of accessory building. Does not permit for wide-open spaces. Providing adequate camp sites in the center greenspace that do not interfere with large events.
2. Length of proposed midway does not allow for events that would require hard surface area to set up. Example, large truck shows, equipment shows, logging congress, etc.
3. Reduction in buildings by removing the south exhibition building leaves less square feet of buildings than is currently there. That is the building that we use for our urbanized youth programs which has been growing. It also takes away the ability to hold multiple events on the grounds. Proposed building includes 8,000 sq. ft. of office/meeting space.
4. No consideration in holding animal/agricultural related shows due to lack of temporary animal waste facility.
5. Loss of greenspace to the south of the midway which eliminates the ability to host specialty acts and shows during events.

6. Added entrance on the west end of the midway goes against all safety training involving events.
7. Ability to have an adequate dirt motor sports area, including pit area.
8. Design of inner greenspace with the rolling curvatures to the east does not allow for the highest and most practical use for events.
9. Developing a trail system along the river below the large slope is fine, that is acreage that is not currently being used by any event.
10. The proposed plan does not really allow the trail system to come back up on top and connect to the proposed trail to Ashwaubomay Park.
11. The proposed plan based on a landlocked piece of property takes away the ability to host large events that need large open space.
12. It is the opinion of the Brown County Fair Association that the plan as proposed will take away the ability to continue the success of the Brown County Fair and the possibility of attracting other large events.
